Hungary qualified to the Olympic Games beating Germany 8-7, with a break of 3-0 in the first 11 minutes and 17 seconds. Hungary won the first three quarters but lost badly the last one, eventually winning the game by only goal, after risking the tie and the subsequent penalty shootouts. The Magyars players scored the majority of their goals either on extra man or on penalty.

There was only one goal in the 1st period, scored by Hungary's n.4 Erdely on extra player. Defenses prevailed with the outstanding contribution of both goalkeepers. Germany missed 2 extra man opportunities, Hungary one. Hungary scored again on extra man less than a minute inside the 2nd period, this time with Manhercz (2-0). At 3:27 from the start Denes Varga sent Hungary up one more goal on penalty. At 3:51, Nossek scored the first goal for Germany on extra man: 3-1. An assist from Erdely prompted Szivos to net nicely a "flying" ball, one of the rare Hungarian action goals in this match. Germany's answered with its center forward Cuk, also on action. Soon after Erdely, scored his second extra man goal. 5-2 for Hungary the score at half time.

In the second period Hungary took advantage of both their extra man opportunities, Germany only of 1 out of 4. At 2:57 inside the 3rd period Denes Varga converted his second penalty sending Hungary up 4 goals (6-2). At 3 minutes to the end Hungary's n.10 scored his 3rd goal. In the first minute of the last leg Manhercz scored his second goal, again on extra man, soon answered by Nossek's second goal, on action (8-4). At 3:12 Germany's captain Real started the charge of the Germans, scoring a goal on a blaze from the middle distance. Less than a minute later left hander Restovic followed up narrowing the gap to 2 goals (8-6). Finally Bukowski scored the third consecutive goal for Germany, and the last goal of the match, on a furious counter attack (8-7). In the last 2 minutes of the game Hungary incredibly missed twice extra man opportunities; Germany missed one too, on expiration. Hungary won by one goal and qualified for Rio.

Patrick Weissinger, coach of Germany: "We are very angry about how we started the game. Then we have reacted and have been very unlucky. We deserved at least penalty shootout, or even more. However it was a good game. Now we will work on young players and will prepare for the next Olympic Games in Tokyo".

Heiko Nossek, Germany's player: "It's difficult to say what went wrong. I think we played well in the first and fourth periods and not in the middle of the match. Hungary thought that they had already won but we filled the gap. I missed the last shot. I wanted to do a lob. It's hard to us accept the defeat as today we played one of the best match like national team against one of the biggest teams in the world. This is my last tournament and it's a pity that it goes like that but life goes on".

Denes Varga, Hungary's player: "This match was hard. Germany is a very good team but we had the game in our hands. The advantage of the beginning was worthwhile in the end. In Rio I expect this kind of matches with equality. At the Olympic Games there will be only strong teams".

On the other side the joy of the winners for the Olympic berth was irrepressible.

Guillermo Molina, Spain's player: "The Olympic Games are the goal we wanted to reach at the beginning of the season; we are very happy, it was a difficult road. The first defeat of this tournament made us wake up and after that we played better. Canada is a strong team, they showed it in this tournament. I'm very satisfied about this success".

Alberto Espanol: "This match has put on us a lot of pressure, as the work of an entire sports career was at stake. Going to Olympic Games is the result of the work of a lifetime. In Rio de Janeiro we will aim to win a medal".

Giuseppe Porzio, coach of Canada: "It was a beautiful experience. We always played quite well. Today there were great tension and emotions. We were often wrong in extra play. We shook out at the end but too late. The team with more talent and experience won. Lose for one goal against the big Spain is a good beginning."

FINA Delegates: Alan Balfanbayev, John Whitehouse.

Notes - Extra man goals: France 1/5, Netherlands 2/5.

France won the game after penalty shootouts and qualified for the Olympic Games, a fantastic result for the side coached by Florian Bruzzo. Netherlands drove the match for the most part but in the final minutes France came back strongly and managed to impose the tie at 8-8.

The drama of penalty shootouts was resolved in favour of the French side when Marzouki scored the last penalty. Before him France had missed one, Netherlands two. This was the sequence: Lindhout (N), Peisson

(F) missed, Gielen (N) missed, Simon (F), Gottemaker (N), Crousillat (F), Koopman (N), Izdinsky (F), Spijker (N) missed, Marzouki (F).

Netherlands up 2 goals in the first half of the first period thanks to action goals from Gielen and Lucas on counterattack. At half time the score was 3-4: for France 3 action goals, for Netherlands 2 goals on action and 2 on man up.

Lucas scored his second goal for Netherlands after two minutes and a half inside the third quarter, soon answered by Izdinsky for France. Frauenfelder pushed the Netherlands up 2 goals again. With few seconds to the end of the period Marzouki scored his second goal for France. The teams went into the 4th quarter on 5-6, and the game was still wide open. 43 seconds inside the last period Winkelhorst scored on extra man (5-7). France answered with three action goals from its captain Camarasa and went one goal up, 8-7, before Lindhout managed to tie 8-8. The last minute was dramatic but it did not change the result. Penalty shootouts were needed.

Mehdi Marzouki , France's player: "I scored the last penalty for the victory but it's a team work. It could have been another player, he would score it too. During the game we have fought against the opponent up to the Camarasa's goal. But we didn't give up. At the end we had the possibility to win on extra player but we didn't score. France didn't qualify for the Olympic Games from Barcelona 1992. We are proud".

Alexandre Camarasa, France's captain: "My team worked very hard but when Netherlands was 7-5 we thought that the match was finished for us, but it didn't go that way. The Olympic pass is incredible: just four years ago we were playing for the European qualification tournament! It's very exciting that after 24 years we are going to the Olympic Games again".

Robin Van Galen, coach of Netherlands: "We played a good match but we were unlucky. Sometimes you win other times you lose".
