FINA Diving Grand Prix in numbers

FINA Communication Department

- Russian diving legend Dmitry Sautin won the FINA Diving Grand Prix 3m Springboard event seven times straight between 1995 and 2001. The following year he finished third, before he won the silver medal in 2003 and 2006. Between 1995 and 2000, he also won every Grand Prix 10m Platform event, except for one second place finish in 1999. - In both the men's and women's events, China has won every FINA Diving Grand Prix Synchronised Diving competition (Springboard and Platform) since these events were added in 2002.

- In the women's field, there has been only three years (1998, 2003, and 2004) when the podium has not been occupied by at least one competitor from China or Russia, nations whose divers often dominate this competition.

- The cities of Madrid, Spain and Rostock, Germany have hosted the FINA Diving Grand Prix every year since it was founded in 1995.
