Jr.Artistic Swimming Worlds, Budapest, Day 3: Russia is on the way to the clean golden sweep

FINA Communication Department

The 16th FINA World Junior Artistic Swimming Championships is in the wings in Budapest, Hungary, celebrating its half-way mark by launch of the Team events. The medals offer included Team Technical routine, which saw, like the previous days, the outspoken favorite Russia defending their long-bearing titles.

20 nations, representing all continents of the globe, were a part of the Team Technical competition. Comparing to Kazan's story of 2016, participants number registered increase by 3. It goes without saying, that competitors level, skills and choreography varied very much, so did the choice of music, ranging from jazz to tango, however all were bonded by the strong idea of diligence and commitment to the artistic swimming sport.

“We trained very hard and we came to Budapest to learn, - confessed Italian head coach Rossana Rocci. – Here we have seen a lot of technically and artistically strong nations, representing good European and Asian schools, like Russia, China and Ukraine. It must be very motivating for our junior swimmers to watch these pace-makers live. We got a total of 85.8312, and this is a good achievement for us at the moment, as we are on the way to the higher results”.

For the defending champions Russia, the task was different and high, to match ambitions. The 8-athlete squad was fully armed to vie gold. The draw chose them last to exhibit, which was a favor and a punishment at the same time. It was strategically strong to be in the know of the opponents progress, and on the psychological terms – not in the least. Previewing their own impeccable-or-die performance, Russian juniors could not keep tracking Chinese beauties with their “Youth and movement”, “California dreaming” by Spain, Scotch dance by Great Britain, and of course, “Avatar” of their main challengers Ukraine. Oksana Pismennaya coached side presented a routine of rare intensity and intense choreography, featuring non-stop transitions, thrusts and busts. They were cashed accordingly by a high overall of 90.3331 points with 35.8330 - on elements.

It was no way easy for the eventual champions to pull themselves together, but they did that job well. Highly spirited and properly emotional, they gave a tremendous “Samurai” portion. Remember these names: Antonina Bazlova, Milena Maretich, Kira Snisarenko, Sofia Titova, Kristina Tagankina, Arina Zhavoronkova, Kseniia Ladnaia and Elizaveta Minaeva as they have everything to prove rising stars of tomorrow. They showed elegant manner to perform complicated elements, high amplitude, good speed and IQ chemistry in the water, and registered season’s best of 92.7347, divided in 27.9000 on the execution, 28.0000 on impression and 36.8347 on elements.

“We did everything as we planned, it felt all good, and we won, - explained the simple winning formula Russian senior coach Natalia Mendygalieva. – We swam last, and it was important for us now not to get focused on the placement, just on how we swim. I love this program, staged by the 3-time Olympic Champion Olga Brusnikina, which is not just complicated, but very spiritual”.

Ukraine and Japan were again the other two medal winning nations. As we have mentioned, the first grabbed another 5th to go silver on their season’s best. Realizing their overall is that big, the junior swimmers and their coach could not keep tears.

“We are overwhelmingly happy as we have done something very remarkable, - explained Ukrainian coach and choreographer Oksana Pismennaya. - It was a clean swim and we have received the best ever marks from the judges, including sky high 9.2 on the artistic impression and 9.1 for the execution. We are a young team, and the average age of my swimmers is but 16 years old, so this silver means a lot for us and our team’s spirit. I think, this success is also about the right choice of the music. The idea of our “Avatar” routine was a fight and my swimmers fully inhabited the role of warriors, managing to overcome their agitation and cope with difficult elements”.

Japan won another Asian rivalry for the bronze, leaving China abandoned. In fact, the difference between the 3rd place holder and their closest challengers was not overwhelming. China and Spain ended on 88.7030 and 87.1724 points to rank 4th and 5th respectively, followed by Italy, Canada, USA and Greece, which was actually the same composition of the Top 9, like in Kazan, but in a slightly different order.

“The level of teams in Budapest is high, and generally speaking, the junior competition's level has been significantly raising, - comments on the 16th FINA World Junior Artistic Swimming Championships Lisa Schott, FINA Technical Delegate and FINA Artistic Swimming Technical Committee Chairwoman. – It is very beneficial, that a lot of nations entered their teams in the contest, and this is why we have registered big participation figures - 300 athletes. It means, that all these junior swimmers have been training and getting ready for the Junior Worlds, and came here not only to show their skills and get assessed, but to learn experience from other strong nations. This is the best way to learn, to evolve, raise the level and promote our sport worldwide”.

After 3 Competition days in Budapest, the team medals chart sees defending champion Russia on top with 5 gold pieces, chased by another artistic swimming powerhouse Ukraine, resting on 5 silver pieces. Japan and China are so far the only two other nations awarded at the Championships.
