

FÉDÉRATION
INTERNATIONALE
DE NATATION

Published on fina.org - Official FINA website (<https://www.fina.org>)

Berlin (GER)

Germany's capital is not only the site of many national and international competitions, but also one of the most fascinating and exciting cities around Europe and the world. Whether the famous Eastside Gallery, the Brandenburg Gate, the German Parliament Building, Potsdamer Platz, Madame Tussauds, or the Zoological Garden – Berlin is always worth a trip.

Have a look at the [visitBerlin \[1\]](#) website and find out more about how you can make your visit unforgettable as there are a number of great attractions, shopping, nightlife and much more here in Berlin.

In addition to the FINA Swimming World Cup, Berlin hosts numerous national and international sporting events, for example the annual German Swimming Nationals or in 2014 the European Swimming Championships.

As Sports Metropolis [2] Berlin has several unique venues such as the Olympic stadium, Mercedes-Benz Arena and the Max-Schmeling-Halle. Several top professional teams such as Hertha BSC (football), Berliner Eisbären (ice-hockey), ALBA Berlin (basketball) and Füchse Berlin (handball) are based here.
